The Builders Association is pleased to announce the appointment of Board of Directors member Leon LaJeunesse to the Project Delivery Committee of the Associated General Contractors of America. LaJeunesse is president and founder of Custom Contracting, Ltd., a general contractor in Lake Zurich, Ill.

His appointment to the AGC committee is just the latest example of LaJeunesse's willingness to take a leadership role in the construction community. He has also served on the AGC's Construction Education, Contract Documents, Ethics and Rules and Supervisory Training committees.

As a member of the Project Delivery Committee LaJeunesse will contribute to:

- Defining services performed by AGC contractor members
- Developing guidelines pertaining to those services for the assistance of AGC members
- Promoting sound practices with respect to those services with other industry groups
- Developing guidelines to assure the maintenance of skill, integrity and responsibility in providing those services
- Reviewing legislation and regulations affecting those services

LaJeunesse is one of fifteen Builders Association members on an AGC committee. The Association has a long history of teaming with the AGC to look out for the interests of construction workers, and was a charter member of the AGC of America in 1918.

The Builders Association is the leading trade association serving the commercial construction industry, and has been since 1906. Our general contractor members build private and public projects worth more than $11 billion annually.
